

Scuolina Selvatica

Revive your nature by contributing to our community!

We are a group of little and big dream-makers: children, parents, educators, artists, poets of the land...

For several years we have been sharing the joy and responsibility of creating a community that revolves around the right of girls and boys to experience the totality of themselves as natural beings. Our project is called Scuolina Selvatica and it is a proposal of free and care-full education in nature, a magic circle of little human beings from 3 to 13 years old and older human beings who share a path of growth, listening, self-learning, and relationship with the wilderness in the hills of Quarto di Sarsina (province of Forlì-Cesena, Emilia-Romagna, Italy), in a forest that protects and loves us. For us, this crowdfunding is an opportunity to make a transition from private project to common good.

We have realised that we have a great social impact on our territory, and over the years we have created networks of people who have generated many other activities and who have been joined by realities from the entrepreneurial, associative, agricultural, touristic, cultural, social and spiritual worlds, united by a collective vision of beauty, respect, naturalness, cohesion, freedom and celebration.

Several families have moved from the city to this rural area to really upgrade it and network. We are walking towards a widespread community whose heart is the activities with children in nature and towards an economy that is concretely solidarity-based, sustainable, inclusive. We are self-financed by families, and we decided to include those who did not have the resources to participate.

With this campaign, we open ourselves up to becoming more and more a “public school” that can also sustain itself with community funds, maintaining our integrity and values while being less and less a space for the privileged.

We invite you to support this campaign as your contribution to the common good, because great changes are always born of unity and dreams.

Choose your donation amount and enjoy your relative “reward”!

Important!

In Italy by making a donation to a recognised association you can donate 30% more; donations to non-profit organisations are tax deductible and this is a good reason to donate more!!! Check out whether it is also valid in your country!

Scuolina Selvatica is a project within the association il Delfino APS, which is a third sector organisation registered with RUNTS and, as such, can receive tax-deductible donations.

To be able to deduct the donation, all you need to do is keep the certification issued by the non-profit organisation, the payment confirmation (received from Paypal via email or the account statement if using a different method) and the email notification confirming the payment made to the platform.

Now you can donate more!
